Read the following text and answer the questions given below.

The Little Blue Kite

(1) Every Sunday morning, Arjun loved to fly his kite in the open field behind his house. His kite was small and blue, patched many times, but he believed it could touch the clouds if the wind was kind enough. "Why don't you buy a new one?" his friend Mira asked. "Your kite looks old."

(2) Then Arjun smiled. "This one is very special for me. My father made it before he went to work abroad. He said it would always fly as long as I believed in it." Each week, Arjun repaired the kite carefully, tying new threads and smoothing its corners. The bigger kites around him always flew higher, yet somehow his little blue kite never gave up. It danced stubbornly against the wind. It was cheerful and alive.

(3) One afternoon, the wind grew wild suddenly. "Hold it tight!" Mira shouted. But before Arjun could answer, the string snapped. The blue kite soared away, disappearing into the clouds. "Look what I found near the temple tower!" she cried. It was his blue kite, dusty but still whole, with a new note tied to its tail. Arjun unfolded the small paper.

(4) "Thank you for the kite. It landed on my roof. I fixed it and flew it again. It reminded me to never stop trying." Arjun smiled softly. "Look, Mira," he said, "the kite is doing what my father said," flying as long as someone believes."
